

CURRENT RESEARCH IN EGYPTOLOGY

We are pleased to announce that Current Research in Egyptology XIV (CRE XIV) will be held at the University of Cambridge, UK, from 19th–22th March 2013.

We invite papers from postgraduate researchers and independent scholars studying Egypt and the Sudan, from the prehistoric to the Islamic periods. In keeping with last year's conference, we hope to stimulate discussion on the multidisciplinary nature of Egyptology. Therefore, we strongly encourage papers from researchers in other disciplines (e.g. anthropology, archaeological science), but whose research relates to the field of Egyptology. Themes may include, but are not limited to:

- Archaeobotany
- Architecture
- Art History
- Cultural Interaction
- Current Fieldwork
- Material Culture
- Museum Studies and Site Management
- Philology
- Religion
- Trade and economy
- Zooarchaeology

Presentations may be either:

- 20 minute paper
- A0 poster presentation

Abstracts should consist of no more than 200 words and should be submitted by 31st October 2012 to organizingcommittee@crexiv.co.uk. You will receive an email confirming reception of your abstract. Confirmation of whether your paper has been accepted will be sent via email by 1st December 2012.

For further information please visit our website at www.crexiv.co.uk, or visit us on Facebook (Current Research in Egyptology XIV) or on Twitter (@CREXIV).
